Hello, Can anyone recommend which Pi model will perform well as as stereo monitors for our home family rock and roll band? Also, since we don't have a drummer, we also want to connect a pair of Pi speakers to a computer-based drum machine. Is there a different model recommendation for this usage? We don't have a lot of room so small size is also an issue. I understand that the various constraints may conflict, but would appreciate any recommendations you have. Thanks, Brian
