Subject: I'm here
Posted by Duncan McBride on Thu, 14 Oct 2004 18:43:02 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hey Wayne -We made it through the hurricanes all right, it was the move to a neighborhood without a highspeed internet connection that put me out of commission. I'm no longer with comcast, so that address has gone away. I haven't had any time at work to steal and check in.I'm getting settled in the new place, and figuring out what I'm going to do in the way of sound. There are actually some ceiling speakers on the porch (down here we call them a lanai, sounds more tropical) and in the bedroom. They're wired to a box in the family room - I hooked them up but they sound pretty feeble. Are ceiling speakers worth the effort? Anyway, I appreciate the concern, and I'm sorry to have dropped off the earth like that. I just heard comcast is coming the new neighborhood so I should be hooked up pretty soon. In the meantime I'll keep in touch from work. The 2Pi towers and the 8Pi mini-VOTTS are buried in the garage for now, but I'm digging. Talk to you soon,Duncan McBride