Mike, why not use smaller drivers? Because my 15" has the required Vd. This is no bill fitz horn. A horn that is longer, with a smaller driver will be displacement limited in the midband which is what I DONT want.. I can input 240w rms and still within xmax with my 15"+ i already own it, so why buy another speaker for no reason. The reason i wouldnt go buy a lab12, is that the BL is lower causing a larger unloading effect at the horn flare frequency. Also I dont have cash pouring out my ears
