In large part its personal tastes and the room you're stuck with. If I can ever get someone to build the boxes I have the drivers for the 7 Pi w/ mid horn and all JBL drivers. with a little compenstion the high end is fine for me. Otherwise, I do keep a lookout for JBL "mini" baby cheeks super tweet, 2405 or something like that, or the slots which could be tagged on for such high frequency deficiencies. for lack of anything better at this time I will be useing either 811b or the plastic horn intended for the smaller stage 4 pi on a jbl 2425H drivers. I figure as a three way, the passband for the 811 should hopefully be higher than its problem resonant frequencies.Russellc
