Sounds to me like you are in "trying to make your mind up hell" and it is driving you nuts. One the one hand you want something no more than 18" out from the corner, but you want to be able to "play" with moving them around for resonance purposes. The adire speaker is not in the same class as the 7Pi. and, while you can move it all over the room, It will not sound as good as the 7Pi no matter what you do. I would strongly suggest the philosophy of "Buy the best and only cry once." Go with the 7 pi. you will not need to move them all around, they will work best right in the corners, where you and your room needs them to be, and you won't lose sleep moving them all over the place, driving you and your wife nuts. If you don't like them, I will be happy to buy your boxes! Nice thing about these speakers, if you offered the finished 7Pi boxes for sale, you would have half this forum fighting over them in your front yard.Just go for it!Russellc
