2510 would be a great satellite, but simulate as I might, it doesn't go anywhere near as low as the 12LF. in an extreme alignment you might get down to 50 Hz with a shelved response (EBS). Box would be about like the Theater 3 and powerhandling would be slight. I can't find anything to beat a Theater 3 when you account for price, size, bass and quality. Wayne nailed it with this budget model. You could do 1 Pi's with a 12LF sub and still save space. Not the deepest sub on earth, but better than a lot of commercial stuff. Thomas
