I switched around my cross-overs yesterday so the JBL/Altec is crossed at 1600 with a .33 cap on the tweeter instead of 800 Hz with .47. I like the greater contribution to the mid-range of the 2226 but am missing some high's, I think. I don;t have another .47 cap but I do have some nice .1's. I can parallel the .1 with the .33, right? And see if that is brighter?
