
Subject: Re: Alpha 10 question

Posted by Wayne Parham on Sun, 20 Mar 2005 15:24:17 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Transmission lines and bass-reflex speakers have some similarities. Both have a primary resonance that is used in conjunction with the driver's resonance, to control it and to tune the system. The thing that makes transmission lines tricky is the fact that there are multiple higher resonants that need to be addressed. I suggest that you model any proposed TL speaker with Martin King's spreadsheets at www.quarter-wave.com.
