A cursory perusal through google gave me no idication of where I might locate one of these exotic little beasts except for the NOrh SE-9 which I found for $400(and you have to like tubes, which I don't), which obliterates 2/3 of what I need to spend on my DIY speaker upgrade to Electronic crossovers. Appreciate the thought though. Sort of out of the question for those of us who have other things to buy such as shoes for the kids, or books for their fall semester, and don't have huge salaries.But just wondering, where would I find one? Certainly not on ebay.eric j
