Subject: Re: Why Independent?
Posted by Wayne Parham on Tue, 17 May 2005 00:11:11 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Sometimes the best summing comes from an asymmetrical crossover having different slopes and crossover points. This is often the case when the drivers themselves have very different positions tweeter response is shifted by the inclusion of components R1 and R2, moving its crossover point and overall response. But frequency and slope are fixed by the components chosen. With an active crossover, it is nice to have some flexibility.