Thanks, that makes sense. I couldn't find anyone selling the 2012 used, but if its the new model, that would make sense. I'm trying to do the same thing you are, though I did end up buying the 2226's used, not the 2225's. I bought the 2425's from Bill Martinelli and I found some used 2123's for a good price, so hopefully I'll be able to buy those as well. I couldn't afford or justify new JBL parts, and a perk of buying used is that you can use them for a while and could resell them for about what you bought them for. -lan
