

---

Subject: Re: Speaker Voice Coil Cooling System - Heat Sink

Posted by bgavin on Sun, 03 Jul 2005 02:03:56 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Computer processors specifically use copper to wick the heat away from the core, then use aluminum fins to dissipate that heat to the atmosphere. Copper has a superior heat transfer coefficient, and aluminum has a superior heat dissipation function.

---