Subject: Re: BB Ply or MDF
Posted by Matts on Sun, 11 Sep 2005 02:13:11 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

The dust IS the killer with MDF. I don't have any problems with cutting plywood as long as I use the best sawblades for the job- good brands made especially for ply. Here's a pre-finish filler an owner of an architectural restoration store used on my last ply cabs- put it on really thin with a wide putty knife and it will sand as smooth as glass with 500 or 600 paper, and take a finish very well. Very good stuff!
Bartley's Filler