I was wondering if anyone could share information on their experience in building a pair of the 2 Pi towers. I am considering it myself and am curious what a lot of you used for wood, how difficult you found the construction, and any tips or tricks you might have to share. Any impressions you have about the finished product would be appreciated as well, such as quality of the overall sound, what equipment you're using them with, and how long they took to break-in before they sounded their best. Thanks for any info!
