
Subject: Re: rajeev cooling *

Posted by Wayne Parham on Wed, 12 Oct 2005 09:05:40 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Increased surface area generally makes a better interface and therefore better heat transfer. So a threaded plug would probably be slightly better than one that is press fit. Either way, the heat conductive grease should be used for best heat transfer.
