I've played around with a few different brands too. I kinda like the Solens for big values and Kimber Caps for the small ones, Erse for big coils and Jantzen for the smaller ones. Makes a nice step up that doesn't require a few hundred bucks worth of caps. But I'll have to say the stock stuff sounds pretty good, and it's not a night and day thing. If there was one part I'd say was most noticeable, it would probably be the 5.6mH Erse coil on the speakers that use the big coil.
