Got the call tonite that #1 daughters in labor. 3 weeks early. She says she's OK, not to worry. Sure!Got talked out of going to the hospital.Built a pair of the White Lightning interconnects over the past few hours. Have had the parts for months. No word yet.They really do sound good but the Switchcraft RCA's are a pain and I managed to stab myself deeply in the palm during an impromptu knife-catching contest. I haven't found the best order of assembly yet but Jeff Days instructions leave something to be desired. Definitely solder the hot before any crimping and bend the tabs down that hold the neutral a bit before assembly; they're pretty rigid.
