

---

Subject: Re: 2500 hz hump

Posted by Matts on Wed, 14 Dec 2005 23:04:15 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

by nature of being woofers, aren't these drivers made to cross below this point? If the mfr's are trying to optimize performance in a given waveband, there are bound to be trade-offs outside of that waveband. And, if a mfr tries to make a single-driver solution, there are trade-offs in that, too (called "BASS"). No free lunches!

---