
Subject: Re: speaker advice

Posted by dB on Wed, 18 Jan 2006 21:27:24 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Indeed. Altec 14's are something. Beside the speakers, the box must value as much as the speakers. It's nice and it must sound good (I never heard of a guitar made of MDF). The space between the woofer box and the tweeter is what makes the difference. I don't know if it's one speaker box or two boxes apart. If you look at altecs (and others) they are all marvellous projects, my number one choice going to JBL 4350BWX Studio Monitor. The accent is in the podiums. They never seem to touch the ground. see MIES (architect)
<http://myhome.naver.net/kimhyoungwoo/images/modern/Mies%20van%20der%20Rohe-Farnsworth%20house.jpg>
