Here's my take on John Wolfe's Hartsfields: You visit his room at a show and the music is unbelievably louder than you would ever play it for yourself but somehow you don't mind. John just sits there in a corner with a Cheshire Cat smile. There is $40 or $50,000 worth of amplification and front end. He doesn't fiddle or tweak or talk unless you speak to him and then he's very forthcoming. You know your ears are being harmed but you just can't leave. Wayne, you need some Lamm or some such amplification on the 7 Pi's and no other working speakers. Practice your Cheshire Cat smile.....
