I haven't used them but I've heard them, they're a very good midrange driver and pretty tough too. This is what L-acoustics uses for there midrange in there Vdosc professional concert line arrays. I heard them at a Don Henly concert here in T-town and the midrange was very very smooth at a live concert, so I can imagine what they would sound like in a home stereo listening enviroment. And everybody else I've talked to seems to like them and highly recommends them.HTHBill W.
