I have 4 JBL 2205B 15" speakers in what appears to be VG to EX condition and 2 Altec Lansing 811B Horns with 806A drivers that have been painted gold to match the gold tweed faces of the enclosures they lived in. (These items came out of a church...and though I don't have the enclosures, I do have the faces).I can find 2225 and 2226 speakers on eBay, and they appear to go for between $100 and $200 each, and the horns with those drivers seem to go for about $300 for the pair.What makes the 2205's better/worse than the 2225/2226's? Are the "B" drivers upgrades from "J" and "H" drivers?Thanks in advance!Dave
