
Subject: Re: Workshop in Houston
Posted by dB on Mon, 12 Jun 2006 07:57:18 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi FredT, Your shop is really nice. I have been in a small factory here in Portugal with a $100,000 CNC, but they are building only kitchen cabinets (with MDF, etc.). The problem is that they don't even bother to work with real or good quality wood or multiplex. So, they sell exotic but they don't manufacture anything with it. Unless you are JBL (...or Wayne !) is difficult to have a high volume output rate... you only get paid when someone offers you a 6pack and go for a nice week-end work. I will give a try at the CNC though, for the front/back panels. Regards.
