Subject: Re: Opinions on Eminence Magnum 18LF?
Posted by Wayne Parham on Fri, 21 Jul 2006 03:27:59 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I agree, both about the Magnum 12HO and also about Eminence's stab at shorting rings. I hope they continue to research and improve using that technology, but sadly, I think they may have decided to leave it as a paper tiger. They have compained about lagging sales in the drivers with shorting rings, so I think they probably won't do much with them in the future except in name. They can "say" the Definimax drivers have a shorting ring, but I am not convinced it is an optimized shorting ring. I don't think they ever got it down, to be quite honest. Hopefully, they'll continue R&D sometime in the future.