Have always meant to get some speakers outdoors and these uglies seemed the perfect candidates. Motive and opportunity merged today: Home, Krap, Home. I can't believe the difference in sound. Just stuck where the wire ended the imaging was incredible. The bass was a little more prominent than indoors! You think it could be the floor? LOL. Overall, I was struck by the coherence of the 2 drivers into a whole. Inner detail is lost in the high ambient noise of the town. The tomato plants seemed to like Townes Van Zandt better than Sonny Rollins.
