Subject: Re: wirewound resistors
Posted by Wayne Parham on Sat, 12 Aug 2006 04:07:18 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Most people prefer non-inductive resistors for audio. In the tweeter circuit, it's a pretty good idea to stay with non-inductive resistors but you can probably get away with wire-wound parts for Zobels on your woofers and mids.