Hi, Cuppa Joe About the carpenter. I think that's important to, I always like a personal touch in this speakers, so to say. But don't forget that Wayne Pi's are ready for CNC at least, I guess, some of them, isn't it so Wayne? Now, if you only have the drawings they can also do all the input on the CNC machine (you pay for the time anyway - man/hours). They also do the veneer process but that goes before the CNC-cutting. There is another forum about CNC machines and that stuff but I never been there long. You can also do laser cutting, besides milling 3D or both. Isn't life great? Best Regards.
