Received the Paul Speltz anti-Cables yesterday and hooked them up tonight. The 45 amp is on the bench so I'm using a Marantz 2215B receiver. I've never made a change so profound as this. The Marantz went from a homogenised, muddy sound to oh-so-clear and lively. If these cables were a speaker I would suspect a "presence bump" so they're not really neutral, emphasizing the upper mids and lower treble. They sure sound good though. And the imaging, side-to-side and front-to-back is better than any other 'cheap' cable I've tried. $10/Foot stereo pair so everyone should try them. Can't wait to hear them hooked up to the 45.
