I'm doing some simulation at the moment. The JBL 2226 seems to work much better, especially with low frequencies, than B&C drivers. I could find B&C for very little price (round 50-60 euros each) but JBL are going to be my candidates. In order to complete my decision can I also receive plans of Professional III? Is it possible to use the JBL 2206 with the Eminence 2002 horn, maybe outside the box? Is the low registry of Professional III considerably worse than that of Professional IV?
