Subject: Re: Alpha 10 driver displacement? Posted by Wayne Parham on Wed, 13 Jun 2007 15:47:10 GMT View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Use a simple model that is a composite of solids. In other words, consider each driver to be made of a cylinder (magnet) and a cone (basket and cone). This will allow you to get a close approximation of the volume of any loudspeaker.

Page 1 of 1 ---- Generated from AudioRoundTable.com