Brother From Another Planet, I can't beleive you remmember that, a great flick now I gotta go rent it. How about "Watermelon Man"! White guy comes home to his house in the suburbs, goes to sleep and wakes up black. I know it sounds dumb but I always liked the old version of "Car Wash", I still crack up when the boss changes the radio station from top 40 to classical and all the workers start moving in slow motion. One more "Vanishing Point", Barry Newman has to drive his '70 Dodge Challenger across country in 24 hours.
