Our new house is now a victorian style with smallish square rooms with many doors and radiators in the corners. There is literally no usable corners , and jury rigging a huge rube goldberg setup is not going to happen. ..WAF...and I want it to look cool and be what I can really be proud to show off. I'll bet a couple of hot rodded Cornwalls would would be perfect. Wonder if there is any way to use my parts to make such a beast...and have it be RIGHT, and not some half a$$ed make do situation.
