This is just a suppose, thinking out loud question.If a person's Theater Seven Pi's were, well, in the corners of the listening area, but 15 feet apart, and the listing spot was not perfectly optimal...say in a square room. Mine is square. Would it be possible or at all advisable to have the midhorn/tweeter setup on separate stands inside the bass units...say 8 feet apart? The bass units being in the corners of a 15 ft wide room and the mid tweets being located between them on stands at listening. Will that mess up imaging?
