Hi Ed, Not exactly what you are asking about, but I've had a pair of JBL 3677's for a while. I added an APT-150 to one side crossed at 5KHz.For whatever reason, it never sounded quite right. I wired it so I could switch between having it in or out of the circuit. Recently, Ibought 3.5KHz xovers, and putting those (both sides now) in made a big difference. Between the bass and high end, I'm actively crossed at 1.2KHz,passive between the two horns. I'd really like to use the APT with a set of Wayne's mid horns, but they don't make it up to 3.5K.Still thinking about the next project.Chris
