At the recent Montreal Audio Show, there were a few artists that kept coming up as sampling music, selected by vendors. Obviously, the music was chosen by the vendors to best show off their equipment. Most of them were sonically impressive, but musically boring.There were, however, three (new to me) artists that I was very impressed with. Anyone have any thoughts on these three ladies: Jacintha, Eva Cassidy, and Patricia Barber. "Live as Blues Alley" by Eva Cassidy was very impressive. Heard the disk through a SET/Single Driver combo.Gar.
