

---

Subject: Quarter wave ported box?

Posted by Bob Coley on Thu, 17 Jan 2008 00:47:43 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Is there an SPL advantage if you built a ported enclosure that has the port 1/4 wave length from the center of the speaker cone? In other words, all else being equal, if you have a ported box tuned to 50 hz and you position the port about 66" away from the center of the driver, would it make a difference vs positioning the port some other place?

---