Subject: Three Pi in New Zealand!!
Posted by Champion on Wed, 16 Apr 2008 12:31:38 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

After a few weeks of hard work, my 3 pi is basically complete. While it is not the most accurate speakers, it sounds very nice and well balanced - heaps of fun. I really look forward to drive it with a SET amp, which was why I built them in the first place.Just a couple of photos to share with you - my wood working skill is very bad so it is not the niciest looking speakers (you will probably think it is ugly). But hey, this is my first pair and it is fun to DIY!http://www.onestepcloser.co.nz/wordpress/?p=91Finally, thank you so much for Wayne's support. Thanks for going the extra mile and help me right down to screw selection. Your customer service is second to none in the industry.