I bought my wife a pair of Sennheiser HD280's and like those pretty well. My initial impression was that the bass was a little underwhelming, but it does go plenty deep. This was based on listening to an iPod. Since then, they seem really nice, just a little different than the other cheap Koss I use. The cushions are a little stiff, though. Another option are Sony MDR 7506's. Similar design, same price ($99), supposedly good reputation. Haven't tried them. Chris
