'Been reading about this new Guy Maddin film coming out calledThe Saddest Music In The World. There's info in the filmavailable elsewhere but what it got me to thinking about issomething I had recalled for some time when I had a radio showin the 80's. I can't image how Guy Maddin did not tap The Boulevard of BrokenDreams Orchestra for this film. Just like it sounds, the Dutch ensemble of 16 musicians anda vocalist sing all sad and maudlin songs (in English.) We got the LP as a promo and according to the website below it is availableagain on cd for your dining and dancing pleasure. ;-)
