Ok, I was mistaken on when you did work for them but I alsohad Speakerlab product in the 70's and that takes me backas well. At that time and well into the 80's I felt good if I could just get through the physical assembly of componentsand pre-assembled crossover. Since I currently have a question in here on Voigt pipesI'd also like to open up a dialog on your Bigger Is Betterproject shown at Full Range. I'll review what is there beforecontinuing with that. Ooops. Is anything even _in_ archivessince James changed over to the new format?
