Well; episode three for the season. I think this show is the best on TV. The last episode from the last season, when the logshoreman were left w/o jobs and they were standing on the corner drinkin beer on a tuesday afternoon and there was no sound or music. That was a work of art. Funny how some of the dialogue from that show occasionaly shows up in political speeches. Defines in crystal clarity what this counrtry is about in this year of our lord 2004.
