I like to follow the Altec Users Forumn as I still have a pair or two lying around pre-Pi days. Well lo and Behold our old friend Romy the loser has poked his head in there and now the site is becoming unreadable. They are such a well mannered bunch over there I think they don't know how to take him. I only bring up bad memories because he does mention the Pi site and claims he has never posted there, but that his imposter imitators have. One of these days... bang; zoom, to the moon alice!!
