

---

Subject: Re: 60th Anniversary of the end of WWII
Posted by Wayne Parham on Mon, 15 Aug 2005 19:16:36 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

No way. The American revolution was begun with terrorism because we couldn't initially put an army together. But our intentions against the British were pretty clear. The war was waged in a different way, using different tactics, but it was still a war.

---