The concept of motive implies a gain or benefit. So what is the benefit to her of losing her son? Since rationally we can state that nothing on earth can replace a child; what is her objective, in the minds of those questioning her so-called motive? Money? Naah. Fame, can a woman be so callous that walks this earth? Before anyone assigns that motive be sure you have taken your meds today first. Vengeance; possibly. I could accept that. Anything else pop into anyones mind?
