The concept of motive implies a gain or benefit. So what is the benefit to her of loosing her son?Since rationally we can state that nothing on earth can replace a child; what is her objective, in the minds of those questioning her so-called motive?Money? Naah.Fame, can a woman be so callous that walks this earth? Before anyone assigns that motive be sure you have taken your meds today first.Vengeance; possibly. I could accept that.Anything else pop into anyones mind?
