Bill; I'm glad I brought a smile to your face. The funniest part is it's true. That's why I posted it; it just seemed so weird to shop for a new face. Last night on the news they described how they will do it; first..they slice off the face from a cadaver including all nerves and small blood vessels....Then they had a guy on who had a hand grafted on and he wanted it removed because it freaked him out.Oh and BTW it's not Houston it's somewhere in Ohio.
