Subject: Re: A new face
Posted by Bill Martinelli on Thu, 22 Sep 2005 17:02:11 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

No, I can't say I hold on to the movies all that well. I remember bits and pieces. Just enough to be frustrated that I should know. I pick up a movie at the rental place and say hey, how bout this one. The wife casually informs me that we've seen it! I do like to watch movies though. I like to watch all of them too. I guess the horror flicks dont thrill me a lot. I love the home theater thing. I have a pretty big screen and some good speakers and a front end to shake the walls if needed. Sometimes I think I just watch the movies to listen to the theater sound. I was on a modern day western kick a while ago. Starting with Silverado, tombstone, unforgiven....