Subject: Re: Chain gangs....
Posted by Manualblock on Fri, 07 Oct 2005 17:47:56 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Does the concepts of; making a mistake once in your life..the quality of mercy..the sheer inability of the citizenry to provide the massive amounts of money needed to incarcerate so many individuals enter this at all?If a guy embezzles money from his company; should he be thrown in the hole and stomped on a regular basis for that infraction? Or maybe ordered to make restitution and allowed to become a constructive citizen again?Are there any contigent circumstances allowed in this approach to creating a law abiding citizenry?