The discussion is about Federal income taxes which has absolutely nothing to do with state and local taxes. In other words the states have a separate income tax in many cases. If the Federal income taxes are cut that has no effect what so ever on state taxes. Same goes for local taxes. Federal income taxes are a completely separate system from state and local income taxes. When ManualBlock could not prove anything about Federal income taxes he now tries to incorporate state and local taxes. Next he will try to include the mints left on pillows at hotels. Stay tuned.
