Subject: This Holiday Season; anyone have any good news?
Posted by Manualblock on Fri, 09 Dec 2005 00:44:02 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Looks like the housing bubble is easing somewhat. Lot of lay-offs though. Funny how they say the economy has added 200k new jobs yet they don't need to factor in the ones lost.Lots of medical progress being made though. The real heroes of this world. In England they have found a way to stimulate dormant hair follicles through epithelial stem cell implantation to grow hair. So if you have any left you will be able to regenerate a new growth of healthy hair. Now that's progress!Oh; they found a vaccine for cervical cancer too.